

ENYI OKEBUGWU

ASSOCIATE

BIOGRAPHY

Enyi Okebugwu is an associate at Imaginable Futures. His work focuses on supporting the U.S. team in managing investments and activities, and supporting key strategic projects across the global team. Enyi also serves as a board observer for ParentPowered.

Prior to joining Imaginable Futures, he worked on the investment team at Village Capital, where he was responsible for operationalizing a highly granular investor and mentor database to support the firm's portfolio companies across the globe.

Before Village Capital, he spent time as an Impact Fellow with Bridge International Academies, where he drove the development process for Bridge's first cohort of primary schools in Nigeria. Enyi began his career by founding a social enterprise, Legendary Tutors, focused on providing high-quality test prep and college admissions consulting to underserved high school students in the south side of Chicago.

Enyi received a Master of Business Administration from the Yale School of Management and a Bachelor of Arts in Neurobiology from Harvard University.

Enyi lives in Oakland with his fiancé, and in his free time enjoys baking, longform journalism and tennis.
